Speed Developed by New Cruiser.

She Also Exceeds the Requirements as to Horse-power.

er Run from the Golden Gate to San Simeon-The Test Inter-rupted by Two Trifling Mishaps.

By Telegraph to The Times.

CAMBRIA (San Luis Obispo county) Aug. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] The cruiser Charleston left her moorings in San Francisco Bay at 6:40 o'clock on Wednesday morning and started down the coast for her second official trial trip. Several pre-liminary trials had been held on the bay during the few preceding days, and the Charleston had given every evidence that she would fill the contract requirements. Accordingly the Union Iron Works notified the navy officials on Tuesday that they were prepared to hold the official trial on the following day.

The officers who were detailed by the Government to conduct the trial and several representatives of the Union Iron Works representatives of the Union Iron Works went aboard the cruiser on Tuesday night. The vessel steamed out of the harbor early the next morning. With the exception of the necessary aiterations which had been made in her machinery, she was practically in the same condition as on the previous trial last May. Pig iron was piled on the deck to compensate for the weight of guns, and a good portion of the woodwork was covered with canvas coverings. The cruiser was deeper in the water than on the other trial, her draft this time being 17.05 feet forward and 19 feet aft. The new electric light plant was also in working order.

feet forward and 19 feet att. The new electric light plant was also in working order.

Capt. Charles Goodall was in command. The official board of inspectors consisted of Commodore A. K. Benham, Capt. J. C. Watson, Lieut. E. F. Qualtrough and Naval Constructor Joseph Fesston. In addition to those, Lieutenant Commodores C. C. Todd and J. P. Gillmore were present, and Ben Wright of the Coast Survey steamer Ranger had also been attached to the board by the naval engineers appointed to ascertain the horse power of the Charleston, consisting of Chief Engineer G. F. Kutz, Chief Engineer F. A. Wilson, Chief Engineer W. S. Smith, Passed Assistant Engineer H. Webster, R. G. Galt and E. F. Warburton and Assistant Engineers I. N. Hollis, F. J. Schell, W. S. Smith, C. H. Mathews, J. W. Seward and Charles W. Dyson. Dr. F. J. B. Cordeiro, U. S. N., was also present, irving M. Scott, general manager of the Union Iron Works, was on the vessel and the builders were further represented by Chief Engineer W. R. Reckart.

STARTING FOR THE TRIAL.

As the new cruiser steamed slowly out of the harbor with the American ensign flying aft and the American ensign flying aft and the American lack floating from the forward staff, the whistles of several passing forryboats and annates of declaries on store bear a staff, the whistles of several passing forryboats and annates of declaries on store bear a staff, the which the Charleston responded. A stiff was a site fired at the Presidio as the Charleston passed that point. The bar was perfectly smooth, and no rovgh weather was encountered the whole day. A slight breeze was blowing from the northwest, but the sea was so quiet that there was scarcely a perceptible motion to the vessel at any time, and all the conditions were considered most favorable. After leaving the Golden Gate, the Charleston proceeded south about thirty miles, steaming at the rate of 14 knots. STARTING FOR THE TRIAL.

Shortly before 10 o'clock Scott announced that he was ready to give the cruiser a four hours' run under the forced draft, for the purpose of developing the horse power required by the Government. Before this time the propellers had been making an average of 95 revolutions, but they were soon increased to over 100.

THE OFFICIAL TEST ed precisely at 10 o'clock, and at the close of the first quarter of an hour the engines were making 114 revolutions per minute. During the first hour the highest rate made by the engines was 118½ revolu-tions, the machinery working particular rate made by the engines was 118½ revolutions, the machinery working perfectly, and it was believed she would complete the four-hours' trial successfully. The average of revolutions of the engines during the first hour was 113 7-10, or nearly seven more than on her previous trial trip,
Her rate of speed was taken by Commodore Benham, Capt. Watson and Lieut. Qualtrough, who announced at the close of the first hour's run that she had made 18 knots, A few minutes after the first hour's run was completed, the evercrowding of the auxiliary condenser of the forward engine with exhaust from the electric light and forward engines filled the hydraulic room with steam, and the heat made it unbearable for the men. Before it was ascertained what the real cause was, it was thought prudent to stop. The affair was of a very trivial nature, but it caused an interruption of the trial run. Repairs were completed in a few moments, and it was decided to start the four-hours' run again at 1:30. As the contract read that the stipulated horsepower shall be developed for four consecutive hours, the morning's work could not be counted in the trial.

The official test was resumed at 1:30, and this time the Charleston exceeded all previous efforts, making a speed of over 19 knots an hour, and according to approximations developing more than the required horsepower, though after a splendid run of nearly two hours and a haif the eccentric or air pump of the forward engine slipped, making it necessary to stop the engine and causing another interruption of the official trial.

The Charleston was a little north of Monterey when the second trial commenced. During the first half-hour's run the propellers made an average of 117 revolutions per minute. This average was maintained with a slight increase during the entire run, the engines at certain times making 120 revolutions. The average during the afternoon run was 117 3-10. During this time the patent log recorded a speed of 18½ kots per hour. Besides the record, as indicated by the log shore bearings, were taken, and these showed that the Charleston was making an average speed of 19 3-10 knots per hour. Allowance has to be made for the friction in the use of the patent log, and the shore bearings are regarded as the more accurate, though the log itself at one time showed a speed of 19 knots. The safety valve was blowing off-ail the time, indicating that the bollers were making more steam than the engines were able to use. The engines worked to the entire satisfaction of every one. Not a hitch was discovered anywhere. There was flot at any time the slightest indication of heating of the engine slides, which caused the trial run last May to be a failure.

At the close of the first two-hours' run the representatives of the Union Iron Works expressed the greatest confidence that the cruiser would fill all the requirements, and members of the Naval Board were also pleased with the behavior of the vessel, and expressed the strongest belief that she would succeed. At this time, however, the eccentric slipped, and the trial had to be suspended. Approximate calculations of the were made during the day. These showed that the vessel had exceeded the required horse-power during the morning's run of one hour, and the approximation taken on the afternoon run showed a development exceeding the rate of the morning. The data on the development of horse-power, as taken by the Government engineers, must be forwarded to Washington. The development on this trip will not be known with any degree of certainty until calculations are made and forwarded there. The approximations made at this time are from the contractors' standpoint.

After the interruption of the afternoon trial the Charleston put into San Simeon Bay, where she remained all night. This was done owing to the lateness of the hour, which made it impossible to have another four-hours' trial before dark. The damage to the air pump was repaired, and the Charleston will leave San Simeon tomorrew (Friday) and proceed southward to Santa Barbara. An official trial will be given her, probably in Santa Barbara Chanlel, after which she will return to San Francisco.

Fatal Encounter with Burglars. New York, Aug. 22.—Early this morning Christopher W. Luca had a hand-to New York, Aug. 22.—Early this morning Christopher W. Luca had a hand-to hand conflict with three burglars who had gained entrance to his grocery. During the fight the grocer was stabbed to the heart. The police found one of the men hidden behind a barrel. He said his name was McElwain, and gave a description of his companions. In less than an hour another of the men, named Martin Denin, a professional thief and ex-convict, was captured in New York.

Laying of the Corner-stone of the State's Monument.

President Harrison's Fitting Words on the Occasion

Brief Speeches by Secretary Rusk and Atty.-Gen. Miller-The Ceremonies at the Monument.

By Telegraph to the Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] About the Denison Hotel, the headquarters of President Harrison, when the general reception began this morning, the street for a square was completely blocked, and the hotel lobby was througed with a mass of humanity. The thronged with a mass of humanity. The President was received in the parlors, which were magnificently decorated, with flowers and bunting. Two lines of people passed up the stairway and through the parlor, and it is estimated that in an hour about 12,000 assed by the President. The crowd was composed mostly of fellow-townsmen of the President, who came to pay their respects. There were also many prominent men from all parts of the State. THE MONUMENT CEREMONIES. The corner-stone of the Indiana soldiers and sallors' monument was laid this after-noon with imposing ceremonies in the presence of the President. Many men of prominence in the United States and thou-sands of veteran soldiers and sallors were present. All day yesterday and this mornsands of veteran soldiers and sallors were present. All day yesterday and this morning trains brought thousands of strangers to the city. The city was beautifully decorated in honor of the occasion. The exercises of the day began at 2 o'clock, when the parade began its march through the principal streets. It was made up of various posts of the G.A.R. throughout the State and State militia and local civic organizations. It is estimated that 5000 were in line. In the second division, immediately in the rear of the military, was the escort to President Harrison, 100 strong, all mounted. The President rode in a flag-draped carriage, Mayor Denny and Goy. Hovey being with him. The other guests of prominence followed. All the streets surrounding the monument were packed with people, and as the President ascended the stand he was greeted with cheers, which he acknowledged. The crowd watched in silence the laying of the corner-stone. The documents were consigned to their resting place, and then the stone was placed in position in accordance with the ritual of the G.A.R. Whest the stone had been placed in position the national flag was raised and "The Star spangled Banner" was sung by Mrs. Zeld. Seguin Wallace. The ceremony under with the firing of a salute.

At the conclusion of the little and the President Harrison was introduced, and after the applause which greeted him had ended, he said:

"Mr. President and Fellow-citizens: The suggestion that a monument should be built to commemorate the valor and hereism of those soldiers of Indiana who gave their lives for the flag, attracted my interest from the beginning. Five years ago last January, when the people assembled in the opera-house yonder to unveil the statue which had been worthily set up to our great war Governor, I ventured to express the hope that near by, as a twin expression of one great sentiment, there might be builded a noble shaft, not to any man, not to bear on any of its majestic faces the name of man, but as a monument about which the sons of veterans, the mothers of our dead, the widows that are yet with us, might gather, and, pointing to the stately shaft, say There is his monument. The hope expressed that day is realized now. (Cries of "Thank God," and cheers, I congratulate the people of Indians that our Legislature has generously met the expectations of our patriotic people. I congratulate the commission having this great work in charge, of Indiana that our Legislature has generously met the expectations of our patriotic people. I congratulate the commission having this great work in charge, that they have secured a design which will not suffer under the criticism of the best artists of the world. My countrymen, $200,-000 has never passed and will never pass from the treasury of Indiana that will give a better return than the expenditure for the erection of this monument. As I have witnessed these ceremonies and listened to these patriotic hymns, I read in the faces of the men who stood about me that lifting up of soul, that kindling of patriotic fire, that has made me realize that in such occasions the Nation is laying deep and strong the foundations of its future security. This is the monument of Indiana to Indiana soldiers. But I beg you to remember that they were only soldiers of Indiana until the enlistment oath was taken; that from that hour until they came back to the generous State that finds sent them forth, they were soldiers of the Union (great applause), so that it seemed to me not inappropriate that I should bring to you today the sympathy and cheer of the loyal people of all States. No American clitzen need avoid it or pass it with unsympathetic eya, for, my countrymen, it does not commemorate a war of subjugation. There is not in the United States today a man who, if he realizes what has occurred since the war, and has opened his soul's sight to that which is to come, who will not feel that it is good for all eur people that victory crowned the cause which this monument commemorates. [Cries of 'amen' and applause.] I do seriously believe, if we can measure among the States the benefits resulting from the preservation of the Union, that the rebellious States have the larger share. It opened the way for a commercial life that, if they will only embrace it and face the light,' means to them a development that shall rival the best attainments of the greatest of our States. And now let me thank you for your pleasant greeting." [Great

There were loud calls for Gen. Rusk, at conclusion of the President's remarks, and he responded as follows:

"Mr. President and Comrades: I will not detain you with my remarks. I am here with the President to witness these great ceremonies. I met Indiana soldiers in the war and they never failed to support us, and I am here today to say to you that I will never fail to stand by you."

Attorney-General Miller spoke briefly, saying he was not prepared to say anything of interest, and did not think any man had a right to mar such exercises as today's by an unconsidered extemporaneous address.

This ended the exercises, and amid the booming of cannon and cheers of thousands, the throng dispersed.

AN ADDRESS

To the Voters of Los Angeles

Presented by the Citizens' Committee of Thirty-six-An Extravagant and Wasteful System engineering, a sanitary and a laboring

To the Voters of the City of Los An geles: On the 30th of this month you will vote on a proposition submitted by the City Council to issue bonds to the amount of $1,280,000, for the purpose of constructing portions of a sewer system and storm drains within the city, and an outfall sewer to the ocean. This is by far the largest single expenditure that the people of Los Angeles have ever been called upon to make, and it behooves them to consider carefully the step before them.

We, the committee appointed by meeting of citizens held at Turnve rein Hall Saturday evening, August 17th, desire to submit to you this address, embodying the substantial reasons why you should vote against placing this heavy burden of debt upon yourselves and your successors for the next twenty years.

And in thus appealing in your own interest, we wish to represent that we are all concerned in the welfare and prosperity of this city; that we are not disposed to take any step backward or to impede the march of progress; that we concede the necessity of a good system of sewerage for Los Angeles, and we will hail the day when it shall be provided with this most important public work. But we are unalterably opposed to the system as now pre-sented, and we denounce it as illydevised, extravagant, and in some essentials worse than useless.

We are opposed to the issuance of $1,280,000 in bonds for this purpose for the following reasons:

Because there is insufficient consideration of economy in the matter of interest. If the bonds are voted, instead of being sold in small blocks and the money applied to improvements as made, the city thereby paying interest on the money only as required, they are to be sold as a whole, and large amount of money will be locked up until the completion of the works say two years hence. The loss to the city in this matter of interest alone would probably amount to $75,000.

We hold that the question has been improperly submitted to the people, inasmuch as it must be voted on as a whole, and thus as a whole accepted or rejected. It would have been feasible to divide the proposition into three distinct issues-one comprehending the intercepting system, one the storn drainage system, and one the outfal system-either one of which migh have been accepted or rejected separ ately, and the remainder left for sul

We are opposed to the issuance o $1,280,000 in bonds, because we believe that the city could be provided with good and sufficient system of intercept ing and outfall sewerage for less tha

Los Angeles, Aug. 19.—[To the Editor of The Times.] It is a general impression that the sewer bonds, when voted, will provide Los Angeles with sewers. To show that this is not so, The storm drains are shown by crosse the protection and preservation of life sewered. Nor is there a near approach to sewering the city. Examine the tually powerless until legislative action way secured to expand the limit of indebtedness.

a thousand-fold more than a buried outfall sewer, generating deadly sewer gas within its great expanse of unused surface, which the petty stream sent through it cannot keep clean.

That the idea of an outfall sewer by way of Ballona to the ocean be abandoned entirely, and an outfall sewer or sewers be substituted therefor, which shall convey the sewage to the sandy and porous lands along the land of the river south of the city.

That contracts be made with the owners of such lands on the most advantageous terms to the city possible, as whereby they shall agree to take charge of the sewage which may be delivered to them for a period of years,

We will be bound hand and foot and delivered over to the mercies of the water companies, to give us little water or no water, or vile water, with its attendant trains of sickness and disease, at their will; to see our property burn for lack of hydrants, or because of pipes which are too small, or from lack of water to put into the pipes; to see our rates of insurance raised or the policies cancelled because of increased risk. Those who live upon the hills, and many who do not, know that the picture is not overdrawn, and know further that unless a remedy is found the value of the beautiful hill property must of necessity be largely destroyed.

But, as before said, if the bonds are voted the proper remedy is beyond our reach, for we shall have then incurred the limit of our possible indebtedness. We shall have mortgaged our property for all the law will allow. We can raise no more money either by direct taxation or by debt. A Fallen Woman's Attempt to End Her Existence.
A rather sensational attempt at suiide came to light yesterday. Some months ago a good-looking girl named Kitt; Harris called at the police sta-tion, and told a pathetic story of hard-ship and suffering that she and her younger sister had undergone in their attempts to lead a virtuous life. The girl made a good impression, but as there was nothing in her case that required police attention, she was given some good advice and sent on her way. Nothing more was heard of her for some time, and when she again came to the notice of the officers, a very con-siderable change had come over her. She had evidently found the straight hooves the city government to begin its system in the most economical manner consistent with good service. We are opposed to the issuance of $1,280,000 in bonds for the construction of the part of a sewerage system proposed, because it is essential that the city be provided with increased sewerage age facilities at as early a date as possible, and the outfall.

The Southern California Athletic Club has arranged a match, to take place at its rooms early in October, between Pete McCoy, the famous middle-weight, and Ed Cuffe. The purse offered is one of $1000, of which $800 will go to the winner and $200 to the loser. Both men must weigh in on the night of the fight at 158 pounds, or less, and a hard centest should be the result.

ORANGE COUNTY is not yet out of

IT is said that the vote of East Los Angeles on the sewer bonds will be practically unanimous against them.

TRUE progress does not consist in oting for an extravagant and impracticable sewer system that will cost $1,290,000—to begin with—and will be at once tied up by injunction suits will prevent us from having a sewer system of any sort for several years. Such "progress" as that is progress in a backward direction. The friends of true progress will yote "No" on the 30th.

THE boodlers now take the groun that injunction suits could not be brought by dwellers on the coast until nuisance has been created. Well. taking your view of the case, would sider it a very wise plan to spend $440,000 on a system the operaon of which would certainly be enjoined just as soon as the first bucketful of sewage was discharged from its Would you, now?

THE Health Office has all at one developed remarkable energy in ordering new closets to be dug in sections where there are no sewers. In some cases persons whose premises were inected by the Health Officer only lew weeks ago and no nuisance found have received orders to dig new cess pools. Of course, the fact of a sewer bond election taking place within a week is merely a coincidence.

THE combined sewage and storm water which would be carried into the Los Angeles River, in great volume, whenever it rains, would never be noticed, says the Express. On the other hand, the trifling amount of sewage water which might occasionally escape into the river, near Florence, during the winter, would, say the boodlers, be a dangerous menace to the welfare of the dwellers along the San Gabriel and give rise to damage suits. Bah! Such eel-like wriggling makes one very weary.

THE Board of Education has acted wisely, vielding to the public desire changing the character of the school-bond election, so as to give the people a chance to express their opinion on the location of the High School, meantime advertising for bids of sites. The consequence of this step will undoubtedly be that the school bonds will be voted. There is a lesson here for the Council, which stubbornly persists in forcing a prearranged programme down the throats of the indignant voters.

THERE is food for thought in the oceedings of the West End Board of Trade, on Wednesday evening. It was there shown that the condition of the western hills is deplorable, as far as the water supply goes. The unfortunate population of that section is, most of e time, without water for domestic It would seem difficult for a fairpurposes, let alone what would be needed in case of fire. It is evident that this state of affairs cannot be allowed to continue. The city should own its water system. It will have to good citizens to vote "No" on the 30th purchase the Citizens' Company's works of this month, when the question of and extend its facilities. In a very few years the lease of the Los Angeles Water Company will be up, when the city should take that system over, also. ould the $1,280,000 asked for sewers be voted, however, where is the money by "mossbacks" and "silurians," who to come from for that or any other are opposed to progress-te the exneedful improvements? Our limit of penditure of money necessary ndebtedness will have been reached. for public improvements. The What are we doing, in thus thinking of putting all our eggs into one basket and a broken basket at that? Let good, honest citizens, such as we preany voters who are inclined to favor sume the readers of these lines to be;

address are as follows:

The amount of $1,280,000, asked for, is by far the largest single expenditure ever been called upon to make. It inyears, and why?

The necessity of a good system of rived at. sewerage for Los Angeles is conceded THE STATE OF WASHINGTON. by all, but

The system proposed is illy devised. extravagant, and in some essentials worse than useless.

The proposed method of selling the bonds is extravagant and wasteful.

The question has been improperly issues.

The city could be provided with a good and sufficient system of intercepting and outfall sewers for less than one-half of $1,280,000. The expenditure of $440,000 to take the sewage to Ballona is unnecessary. The Ballona route is through heavy and swampy soil, where the sewage could not be utilized; expensive viaducts are needed; a break in such places would cause a great nuisance; the vibration caused by passing trains would be liable to crack the sewer conduit, creating further nuisance, and perhaps undermining the railroad track, the city binds itself to be which they have forced themselves, responsible for such damages; there is squirm as they may. In the matter of track, the city binds itself to be doubt whether the Southern Pacific Company has the power to grant a right of way; the discharge of sewage into the ocean would produce a nuisance along the coast; the ocean breezes most unwholesome. The fall in our therefrom would come to Los Angeles north and south streets is sufficient to be established at any time.

The farmers who have been using this sewage consider it a most valuable adjunct.

Winter irrigation is of equal value with summer irrigation, if not su-

The proposed expenditure of $508,000 for storm drains is for what is not necessarily a part of the sewerage system, and what we cannot at present afford. It is, moreover, unnecessary. The proposed combination of storm drains and sewage conduits is inadvisable

If $1,280,000 bonds are issued, the city will then be only at the beginning of its task. Special taxes for connec tions would cost about $1 a front foot The city needs a sewer system at once, and the voting of the Ballona bonds would involve a long delay. The spending of $1,280,000 would almost reach the limit of indebtedness allowed by the charter, and leave us nothing for any other public work. Besides which it is more than probable that the $1,280,000 would not nearly suffice, so that we should find ourselves with a useless and incomplete sewer system and no money to finish it with. The voting of the Ballona bond would plunge the city into debt and leave us without the accomplishment of the object we all desire, The Ballona scheme being defeated the present plans for a system of intercepting sewers can be gone over, and revised where necessary. The outfall to Baliona should be abandoned entirely. In place thereof, an outfall should e built to porous lands south of the city, and contracts made with landowners to take charge of the sewage for a period of years, and utilize it in such manner as to create no nuisance. The total cost of this modified sys tem may probably be brought within $500,000. The City Council should be requested to take immediate steps to submit this system to the popular vote. The City Council has no right to refuse this rea sonable request.

Such are the chief points, plainly but strongly brought out in the address. minded man to read this calm state ment without becoming convinced of the fact that it is the duty of all appropriating $1,280,000 for sewers comes up.

Whole communities sometimes com mit thoughtless acts, but it will hardly be possible to find a more foolish movement of a public body than the one of naming the Commonwealth now begin organized just north of Oregon, "the State of Washington." This name submitted to the people, in that it will result in confusion and uncermust be voted on as a whole, while it tainty from the very start, and the involves three distinct and separate only way out of the dilemma will be ton." It must soon take that awkward appellation.

There was no necessity or call for this faux pas, since there were several other appropriate names to select from. There was Tacoma, Olympia, Seattle and others from which a choice could have been made. It would be the proper thing when this new State comes up in Congress for admission to provide for it a better name, and to admit it in the Union under some more fitting appellation than the State of Washington. Congress will have that authority and can exercise it with great propriety.

Driven to explain that the $508,000 is for combined sewage and storm water, they are now upholding a plan which experience has shown to be plan which experience has shown to be most unwholesome. The fall in our streets is sufficient to flush small sewers, but in larger ones there would be a deposit—the flow less stand. Instead of taking the sewage, at great expense, to a place where it is not wanted, and would be a nuisance, it can be carried; at far less cost, to the sandy soil south of the city, where it would be a blessing.

Responsible land-owners in that section have made definite offers for the large robody

AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE. - There was hange of bill last night, Karl the Peddl being the attraction. In the new piece there is a faint semblance of a plot, but as in the other play given by the company, it mostly resolves itself into a song and dance exhibition, in which Mr. Gardner does the principal work. The audience was larger than usual, and the piece was received with every mark of approval.

Rose Coghlan.-During the Rose Coughlan engagement, special theater trains will be run from Duarte and intermediate stations; also from Santa Monica to ac-commodate those wishing to attend her performances here next week.

THE JINGLERS.-This company of m lodious Ethiopians gave a pleasant enter-tainment at W.C.T.U. Hali last evening. The programme included vocal and instru-mental music, and the audience was pleas-autly entertained. The Jinglers will ap-pear again this evening.

A RUINOUS POLICY.

How the Adoption of the Ballona

How the Adoption of the Ballona Scheme will Affect Us.

Herald!

No wonder taxpayers regard with some alarm the inflated financial schemes of the present city government. The tunds are now overdrawn to the extent of $40,000. The draft on next year's tax levy will be twice that sum before the taxes begin to be paid. The revenues of next year will be less than those of last year by at least $125,000. Add the hole to be made in the revenues before they come to hand, and there will be $200,000 less for municipal purposes this year than last. This means a necessary curtailment to the extent of much more than $250,000 from the sum spent last year. There was the biggest sort of a hurrah for "progress," and no end of contumely poured on the conservative who gave warning of what was ahead when this era of extravagance was ushered in with fanfare and trumpet blowing. Yet these same poor financiers goright along in their radically wild schemes under the same foolish cries, and expect the taxpayers to stand by them. The interest alone on the new bonds will amount to $60,000 a year. There will be the sinking fund for their redemption to provide. And that is not the total weight of the burden their redemption to provide. And that is not the total weight of the burden sought to be put all at once on the backs of the people. There will still be a dollar a foot front to be paid for every lot in the city that is to benefit by these sewers, and there will be on

House and Contents on Washington Street Destroyed.
Shortly before 12 o'clock last night the residence of Mr. Chambers, fore man of the Washington-street car stables, was found to be in flames, and despite such efforts as could be put forth, the building and contents were consumed. The fire department re-sponded to a call, but could do nothing for lack of water. The building was located at the corner of Washington and Vermont streets, near the car stables. Mr. Chambers was at the stable when the fire broke out, and his family was away on a visit to friends. The building was a two-story frame structure. The amount of loss and insurance could not be learned last night.

THE NEW NAVY.

CONTRACTORS BIDS FOR FIVE CRUISERS OPENED.

The Figures Too High Under the Act of Congress - The Navy Department in an Awkward Dilemma.

By Telecraph to The Times.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—[By the Associated Press. | The Acting Secretary of the Navy today opened proposals for constructing five steel cruisers, three to be of about 2000 tons and two of 3000 tons displacement each of the two classes of vessels to cos $700,000 and $1,000,000 respectively, and be completed within two years. Every pro vision is made in the blank contracts to profiting by past experience, the contra is made responsible for the success of the vessels, regardless of minor faults of omis sion in designs furnished by the depart

The bids were opened in the presence of Acting Secretary Walker, Judge Advocate General Remy, Chief Engineer Meiville and Naval Constructor Hichborn, the last named officer having been largely instrumental in designing the new vessels and their machinery. Among the ship-building firms represented by officers or agents at the opening were the following: The Harlan & Hollingsworth Company, Witmington; Quintard Iron Works, New York; Union Iron Works, San Francisco; Atlantic Works, South Boston. The bids were as follows:

Works, South Boston. The bids were as follows:

The Bath Iron Works of Maine propose to build three 2000-ton vessels for $750,000 each, but with an addition of six months to the advertised time (two years).

Cramp & Son of Philadelphia propose to build the same vessels at $75,000 each. The same firm offered to build two 3000-ton vessels at $1,235,000 each.

The result of the bidding was a disappointment to naval officers. As the appropriation is limited by act of Congress to 7700,000 each in case of the 2000-ton vessels, and $1,100,000 for each of the 3000-ton vessels, of course none of the bids can be accepted. The next move will be to readvertise, but not much confidence is felt in the result, and it is probable that as in the case of the cruiser Newark, Congress will be asked to increase the limit of cost of the vessels. Still another course open to the Secretary is to build the vessels at the navy yards.

Naval Constructor Hichborn, who is Kilrain's Friends in Purvis Arrange for His Ball.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] Jake Kilrain was today handed over to the custody of Detective Childs, who will start with him on the 9 o'clock train tonight for Mississippi.

Naval Constructor Hichborn, who is acting as chief of the construction corps, regards the failure to secure suitable bids as an indication that the contractors are profitting by their experience, and calls attention to the fact that nearly all of the vessels now building are under heavy penalties for delayed construction. He says: "The Vavy Department was not consulted by Congress when the abpropriations were made for the vessels. The committees prescribed not only the cost, but the speed or horsepower and tomnage of all the ships.
To realize the conditions the officers of the department who designed the vessels have been compelled to draw up plans for vessels which could not be built for the money appropriated, as work of high grade was required and it was expected that our naval vessels would be the best of their type in the world." He did not think the ships could be constructed at the navy yards (which are already crowded with work) at the prices fixed by Congress.

Engineering experts believe the reason for the advanced figures of the blds is to be found in the severe requirements in the matter of speed and horse-power. The Yorktown approximates in size and characfound in the severe requirements in the matter of speed and horse-power. The Yorktown approximates in size and characteristics the 2000-ton cruisers bid upon today. She is of 1700 tons displacement, and the contractor agreed to give her 3000 horse-power, the vessel to be furnished at $455,000. This is a little more than one-half of the average bid received today, but the new vessels are required to have 5400 horse-power, with 18 knots speed, and so in point of size the Atlanta and Boston are of about the same tonnage as the 3000-ton vessels, but, while they cost only $617,000 and $619,000, they had but 3780 horse-power, and were designed for 13 knots speed, these new vessels must have 10,000 horse-power and its knots speed. This means more compact improvements and costly machinery and las knots speed. This means more compact improvements and costly machinery and heavier hull, construction which, taken in connection with the severe restrictions upon the use of steel and other material, justify ship-builders in increasing their prices.

The formal rejection of the bids cannot prices.

The formal rejection of the blds cannobe made until Secretary Tracy returns Washington.

of the Republicans of Virginia to the National Republican party and its principles, earnestly approving the policy of the protective tariff which favors and renders necessary the repeal of existing onerous war taxes on tobacco and fruit brandies, and whereby American labor is secured the best reward and American production its best markets, while it affords abundant means to pursue the noble scheme of patriotism and statesmanship thrice proclaimed by the Republican Senate in the Blair Bill to afford generous aid to free schools of the States by national appropriation. The platform avers positive knowledge that the true returns of the polis last November would have given the electoral vote of Virginia to the Republican party of Virginia and its organization is indispensable to harmony and success, and that full recognition of civil and political equality of this party and its organization by the national party and administration is an essential condition precedent to such recognition here or elsewhere.

The platform says the party relies upon cordial recognition from the people, because, among other things, it made suffrage free, is the original author and ever ready champion of the free school system, now deprived of free books by the hereditary enemies of popular education and elevation; because it is the zealous friend of the poor, whom it rescues from the jails and poorhouses to which the Democratic authorities consign them; because it illghtens the burden of the taxpayer, and practices economy in striking contrast with the extravagance, which in the last five years has squandered on the mere administration of the Government $1,500,000 in excess of what four years of Republican administration demonstrated to be necessary; because it is not on both sides, or on no side of any public question, State of Federal; because it is not on both sides, or on no side of any public question, State of Federal; because it in not on both sides, or on land and then increase its burdens by new assessments; because it alone ha tions on land and then increase its burdens by new assessments; because it alone has shown an honest disposition and competent capacity to manage the State debt; because it is manifest this party offers the only rightful and peaceful solution of race and sectional differences, of which the Democrats persistently complain, and because in everything, State and National, Republicanism truly represents popular aspiration for American progress and prosperity. The platform further favors the restoration of silver to full monetary function by full and unlimited coinage.

At the conclusion of the reading and adoption of the platform, dee, Matone was nominated for Governor by Jol. Lamb of Norfolk. The nomination was seconded by S. Brown Atlen of Stoneston and R. A. Powell (colored) of Richmond, who heretove has been a prominent anti-Mahone Reposition.

Norfolk (Va.), Aug. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] The Republican State Convention opened this afternoon. When Gen. Mahone stepped forward to call the convention to order the band struck up "Dixie," and the applause was uproarious. At the evening session the contests of delegations was settled. The Committee on Permanent Organization reported for permanent chairman Congressman George E. Bowden of Norfolk.

The platform was then reported and unanimously adopted. It reaffirms the devotion of the Republicans of Virginia to the National Republican party and its principles, earnestly approving the policy of the protective tariff which favors and renders necessary the repeal of existing onerous war taxes on tobacco and fruit brandles, and whereby American labor is secured the best reward and American production is best markets, while it affords abundant means to pursue the noble scheme of patriols and statesmanship thrice proclaimed by the Republican Senate in the Blair Bill to afford generous aid to free schools of the Natice was received and and statesmanship thrice proclaimed by the Republican Senate in the Blair Bill to afford generous aid to free schools of the Natice was received and affer a thorough earnest them.

CADETS IN THE RING.

PITCHED BATTLE BETWEEN WEST POINTERS.

Hard-fought Rounds in an Old Fort - One of the Young Bruisers Badly Battered.

By Telegraph to The Times.
WEST POINT (N. Y.), Aug. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] Cadet Corporal Dickson of Texas and Cadet Private Stetson of New York met in a prize-ring pitched within the ramparts of old Fort Clinton early in the morning of August 15th. Both boys are members of the third class, and the fight was the result of some cadet quarrel.

Round after round, Queensberry rules, was fought without decisive result. After the tenth, however, it was quite exciting. In the twelfth Stetson found an opening and smashed Dickson a corker on the right eye, and followed it with another blow, eye, and followed it with another blow, which dazed his opponent. When time was called again, Dickson's eyes were both in mourning, but he was still game.

Nothing occurred of note until the thirty-fifth round, when Stetson rallied, again smashing Dickson between the eyes. Although both men now showed signs of exhaustion they were plucky. Dickson had been quite severely punished, while Stetson had few marks.

Five rounds more were productive of no the choice of Tyler. The vote resulted 131 Policeman Boyce came to the police to 130 in favor of Johnson.

Having secured the chairman the Mills. station, bringing with him a man covered with blood from several cuts on the face and head, who, he said, he wanted to book for assault. Bovce said that he was walking along Spring street, between Third and Fourth. when the man suddenly jumped on when the man suddenly jumped on him, at the same time saying that he was an officer. He said that he demanded to see his badge and that when he failed to show it and came toward him he knocked him down, and when he got up and came toward him again he again struck him, laying him out. He had then brought him to the station.

The man, who was pretty baffly beaten up about the face and head, told an entirely different story. He was somewhat under the influence of liquor, but appeared to know what

An Outrage on Decency.

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 22.—Eight carloads of cattle were brought to the city last evening from Arizona. They belonged to Waiter S. Vail, and were being shipped to Temecula, San Diego county. When they arrived here 41 head were dead, and the man in charge skinned the animals and left the carcasses on the platform. The Health Officer had the carcasses buried, but was unable to arrest the men, who had left the city. An investigation of the affair will be made.

Recovered Treasure Stolen.

Gold Run, Aug. 22.—Ten years ago J. Spaulding, superintendent of the Hayford mines, lost a sack of retort gold while crossing Bear River. Search was afterward made, but the treasure was not recovered. A few days ago three Chinamn left Dutch Flat and found the treasure, the water being low, and have since disuppeared. The treasure was valued at $1000.

Witness's story of the shooting does not differ materially from the published accounts of the same. Witness said Neagle did not fire till Terry struck a second blow. He did not hear the latter say anything to Field, but Neagle's call to Terry to stop was loud enough to be heard.
Witness also testified that Mrs. Terry said to him that she would not allow Terry to go into the dining-room armed, as she did not want him to shoot Fielg, but she had no objection to a fist bout.
On cross-examination Ledgewood said that when Neagle arose he stepped between Judge Terry and Field, and raised his right arm to ward off another blow from Terry.

A Prejudiced Majority-"Turn the Machine Over"-Flimsy Charges Brought Against the Chief-Interesting Local Mention - Perrecesting Local Mention — Personal Gossip.

PASADENA, Aug. 22.—[Correspondence of The Times.] An investigation into the charges preferred by Temporary Engineer Hillier, reflecting upon the ability of Chief Engineer Jones of the Fire Department, and the alleged intermeddling of the Chief with the new fire-engine while the engineer was in charge, came up for a special train run to and from Los Angeles on one evening of next week to hearing before the Committee of the Whole of the Council at 11 o'clock this morning. H. H. Hillier, whose resignation was in the hands of the committee, was first called upon to sub-stantiate the charges made. He went over in detail the history of the department since he was connected with it, and endeavored to show a lack of harand endeavored to show a lack of harmony and a complete disorganization of the department. He admitted he had seen a set of rules and regulations a few days ago, but did not examine them closely enough to derive any benefit. The several charges made were explained by sections, but in the question of incompetency, he said if the machine was going to explode the Chief could call off his force and get out of the way.

At this point the board got into a wrangle as to the time of adjournment, but finally concluded to take a recess until 1 o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

AFTERNOON SESSION. The hearing in the charges preferred against Chief Engineer Jones by Temporary Engineer Hillier was resumed this afternoon before a full board.

The court was very slow in getting down to work, and in the absence of McLean, Councilman Townsend was made chairman pro tem.

made chairman pro tem.

Chief Engineer Jones called and said he wanted Engineer Hillier present to substantiate his charges. When that gentleman arrived, and also McLean, the controversy began.

The first charge was read, and Mr. Jones began his vindication by referring to the foolish attempt made by the engineer to patch up the grate-box when a blacksmith should have been called to do the work. I did not talk in an insolent and overbearing manner.

Mr. Greely being called on, confirmed the statement.

In the second charge he accuses me of usurping his authority by countermanding his orders. In this count the Chief Engineer illustrated many things which went to show, in his mind, the acting Engineer was incompetent to handle the machine.

H. H. Hillier, the engineer preferring the charges, occupied a seat next to President Parker of the Council, and plied that official with a number of questions which he wished put to the Chief Engineer, in order to strengthen his testimony. McLean, the chairman, cross-questioned the Chief, and from his manner of jumping at the questions led the spectators present to believe he was not as impartial as he might be.

In regard to the lack of discipline, Mr. Joner referred back to the time the handful of men had met to formulate a set of printed rules, which he claimed had been "pigeon-holed" by the Council. My orders have always been obeyed by other members of the department.

The Chief Engineer, with a copy of obeyed by other members of the department.

The Chief Engineer, with a copy of THE TIMES in his hand containing a full report of the muddle, went on to show how a spirit of unfriendliness had rankled in Hillier's breast because the Chief had told the Council he was not the person for the position. Mr. Jones then resumed his remarks in trying to prove Hillier was not competent to handle the engine, as shown by his work in the Sholderer fire a few weeks ago. His conduct at other fires, especially at a trial near the Wilson Grammar School, where the engine "stuck," was also shown. The machine was admitted to be in that position by Mr. Hillier, but he did not deem it expedient to start it, but that he could have done so had orders been he could have done so had orders been he could have done so had orders been given. Another incident was explained where the engineer became so nervous he got "rattled" and could not tell where to place the oil can.

In rebuttal Mr. Jones replied that he never was prejudiced against Mr. Hillier, nor in favor of any other candidate, in answer to questions by M. M. Parker.

SANBORN APPOINTED.

J. S. Mills, Assistant Chief Engineer, asked for permission to address the board, which was granted. Mr. Mills thought that through kindness Mr. Jones had postponed preferring charges against Mr. Hillier, and that higher concurred in the appointment because he was a member of the de-

His reply was that the letter needed no reply. Prof. Holder did not care to make any statement, but said, incidentally that out of the forty or more applications for the position of superintendent he considered Mr. Pinckney the best equipped man for the place. He was fully competent, in his estimation, and the fact that he was a law-maker was, in his estimation, a point in his favor. He (Prof. Holder) did not believe in cramming for a numetrical standing. to Shade Embroidered Flowers and Leaves

Illustrated with Colored Plates and Engraved Patterns.

BY ELLEN G. SMITH.

Given as a Premium to Each New Subscriber to Price, Including Paper One Year, $2.

This beautiful book is the most practical work of the kind that has ever been printed and will be warmly welcomed by our readers. Its author has had a long and extended exedlework, and in this volume she has carefully set forth the results of her study and labor in this fascinating department of art.

She has illustrated her work by means of COLORED PLATES, each one of which is made directly from the piece of embroidery which it represents. On one page of the book she shows an outline pattern of the leaves, and on the opposite page is a beautiful COLORED PLATE showing the pattern as it appears after it has been properly worked. This plate shows the exact colors that were used in doing the work, and the outline pat tern is lettered and numbered, and the author gives full directions for working the colors.

THERE ARE EIGHT OF THESE COLORED PLATES, AS FOLLOWS:

Autumn Leaves Yellow Daisies, Golden Rod,

Tulips, Morning Glories, Wild Roses,

Thistles, Pansies

Any lady can master the beautiful art of embroidery in colors without any other instructions than this valuable book gives. THIS WORK IS PRINTED ON HEAVY TINTED PAPER and is bound with beautifully illuminated cover. It is such a book as ordinarily sells in book stores for $2, but because it is a volume especially adapted to the needs of every household we have put the price within the reach of all.

ANNUAL TRADE NUMBER,

A COMPLETE RLVIEW OF THE YEAR.

Fifty-six Large Pages. Equivalent to a Two Hundred Page Book.

The Annual Trade Number of THE TIMES, now ready, is the most complete and h teresting publication of that character ever published in Los Angelea.

NOTABLE FEATURES—It contains a business review of the year, embracing a great mass of valuable facts bearing on the city and country; a thorough exposition of subtrail resources—mineral, vegetable, commercial and climatic; a review of the ries representation, with solid proofs that the country is now in better condition than it was during the height of the real-estate excitement; a carefully compiled exposition of the varied inducements which Southern California offers to the health-seekor, the home-seeker and the tourist, besides a number of interesting and valuable special articles on pertinent subjects. It contains more solid information about the country than could be crowded into the compass of a hundred long letters, and for a few enits and the acquestion than you could write in a month, even if you had all the facts at hand. For a dollar you can supply ten families in the frozen Hast with information that may lead them you had any of pilgrims to Southern California, to their own and this country sadvantage. Thus, whether viewed from the standpoint of friendship or self-interes: 1. w. il be seen that no better use can be made of a dollar than by purchasing the rewithten copies of the great annual Trade Number of THE TIMES. THE 23p OF AUGUST

EVENTS OF INTEREST EM-BALMED IN HISTORY.

The Assassination of Stilicho - Execution of William Wallace -Louis XVI. of France-Assassination of the Duke of Buckingham -"We Have Met the Enemy."

Three great generals, Flavius Stilicho, Actius and Belisarius, defended the Roman Empire against the barbarians, for which service the first two were assassinated by jealous emperors. Stilicho married the niece of the Emperor Theodosius and was sent as am-bassador to Persia in 384. He fought against the Goths and defeated Alaric and other Gothie leaders in numerous battles. The jealousy of the Emperor Honorius was finally aroused and he caused Stilicho to be assassinated at Ravenna, August 23, 408.

WALLACE, THE SCOTTISH HERO. It was on August 23, 1305, that William Wallace, the Scottish hero, was executed at Smithfield by command of Edward I. That Prince had, by craft and violence, taken military possession of Scotland, the chief nobles having submitted to him. It was left to William Wallace, a young gentleman of Renfrewshire, to come to the defense of his country. He was fitted for the task, being of large stature and hardship, frank in his manners and at the same time of sound judgment. He soon collected a large though irregular force, and won an important victory at Stirling over some of Edward's principal officers, September 11, 1297. A month later he and Andrew Moray assumed the administration of national affairs, and sent two eminent merchants to negotiate with the Hanse towns of Lubeck and Hamburg, and the next year Wallace became Regent of the kingdom. During his interval of authority, Wallace converted the three northern counties of England into a wilderness, upon which Edward led an army against him in person, and gaining a victory at Falkirk July 22, 1298, put an end to his power. Wallace took refuge in France, but was not able to obtain substantial assistance, and on his return to Scotland was betrayed into the hands of the English and taken to London, where he was subjected to a mob trial, as if he had been a traitor to his sovereign, It was on August 23, 1305, that Willam Wallace, the Scottish hero, was English and taken to London, where he was subjected to a mob trial, as if he had been a traitor to his sovereign, Edward I. Conviction and execution quickly followed. Scotland has ever since cherished the memory of Wallace as the assertor of the liberties of their country. What Tell is to the Swiss and Washington is to Americans, Wallace is to the Scotch. LOUIS XVI. OF FRANCE.

The ill-fated Louis XVI., King of France, was born August 23, 1754, and by the death of his father, Louis the Dauphin, December 20, 1765, became heir to the French crown. He married heir to the French crown. He married Marie Antoinette, daughter of the Empress Marie Theresa, and became King on the death of his grandfather, Louis XV., in 1774. He at first appointed Turgot Minister of Finance, but two years later dismissed him and appointed Necker Prime Minister. Louis XVI. acknowledged the independence of the United States in 1778, and every schoolboy knows the value of French assistance to the colonies in the Revolutionary struggle. The futile attempts of the King to accept from Paris in June, 1797, followed by his arrest and forced return to Paris; the extinction of the moderate party; the triumph of the Terrorists and Robespierre, and the King's tragical death January 21, 1793, are all too familiar to require rehearsal. too familiar to require rehearsal.

THE FIRST DUKE OF BUCKINGHAM.

George Villiers, the first Duke of Buckingham, was assassinated August are ours" is a phrase familiar to all readers of American history. It was in this laconic dispatch that the naval hero, Oliver Hazard Perry, announced his victory on Lake Erie, September 13, 1813. Commodore Perry was born in Rhode Island in 1785. He entered the navy at an early age, where he was the navy at an early age, where he was rapidly promoted, and for his brilliant victory on Lake Erie he was awarded the thanks of Congress and a gold medal. Commodore Perry died August 23, 1820.

At a meeting of the directors and managers held in the Y.M.C.A. build-ing, Thursday afternoon, a resolution was passed asking the members to as-semble at the hall this morning at 9:30, to attend in a body the funeral of the late J. C. Byram, president of the Board of Managers.

Sam Levy, the man who had such a close call from an overdose of morphine several days ago, was again found on the street yesterday by Officer Dugan in such a condition that he was unable to take proper care of him-self, and was brought to the station, was locked up for medical

George Hamilton, a Boyle Heights George Hamilton, a Boyle Heights merchant, got into a fight with a man named Powers, who came into his store Wednesday afternoon, in the course of which Powers was pretty badly pommeled. Yesterday morning Hamilton was arrested on a warrant and taken before Judge Stanton, when he was fined $20.

The following were the arrivals at the County Jail yesterday: Charles Robinson, disturbing the peace, city, 15 days; Ah Yow, petty larceny, city, 100 days; John Barry, disturbing the peace, Santa Monica, 10 days, and Fred Martin, vagrancy, Santa Monica, 5 days. There were 96 prisoners in the tanks at 7 o'clock last night.

William Chuningham, and A. J.

William Cunningham and A. J. Krueger got into a row over the price of a glass of beer, at a saloon on First street, near Boyle avenue, yesterday afternoon. They came to blows, but were stopped by Officer Stephenson before either one was hurt and brought over to the central station, where they were booked for fighting.

Ike Ernst, who was sentenced to 90 days' imprisonment a week or two ago, for vagrancy, which was suspended to give him an opportunity to get out of town, was found on First street yesterday afternoon, between 4 and 5 o'clock, by Officer Marden, in an intoxicated condition, and taken to the police station, where he was locked up. He will now have to serve his sen-

The police are looking after a couple of young women employed in a South Main-street hotel, who have been in the habit for the past two or three weeks of masquerading on the streets in male attire. The girls are in the quarters of the city, but have so far quarters of the city, but have so far managed to evade the officers. Should they attempt to repeat their antics they will probably land in the City Prison.

A MISSING MAN.

The Relatives of Walter George Harris Anxious About Him. Chief Glass has received a letter from Thomas B. Harris of No. 36 Bridge street, Charlton, Dover, Kent, making inquiries about his son, Walter George Harris, who was living in Los Angeles when last heard from. Mr. Harris says that his son came to California some time ago, finally drifting to Los Angeles, where he found employment as a laborer. He says that he was in communication with him up to nine months ago, receiving prompt to nine months ago, receiving prompt answers to ail his letters, but that he suddenly quit writing, and up to the present time he has been unable to hear from him. He has written three letters, but all have been returned as unclaimed. His relatives are greatly worried over his long silence, and think that he is either sick or has met with foul play. Harris is a man about 36 years of age, and is fairly well educated. He is a widower, his wife having died in England before he came to America, but he has a childliving with his parents. The Chief of Police has important information for him, and should be communicated with at once.

This is an inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the bronchial tubes, and is one of the most common of all the pullar of discontinuous control of the most common of all the pullar of discontinuous cases, particularly after it passes into the chronic stage, the substance of the lungs becomes seriously involved giving rise to what is very properly called bronchial consumption. In the acute form there is a sense of tightness or pressure across the chest, with considerable wheezing, severe cough and expectorat on. This is at first a waite glairy mucus, which after a time becomes purulent. The patient in some cases is obliged to sit up in bed, the distribution of the control of the contr

Chronic Bronchitis.

Chronic Bronchitis.

Chronic Bronchitis is also an inflammation of the muccus membrane of bronchial tubes. But this form more often occurs tater in life. When a cold settles on the lungs, the disease either ends in bronchitis or pueumonia. If it ends in bronchitis it naually passes off as a celd in the chest, and still the patient does not feel entirely well. He feels tired and languid, and is incapable of taking his usual amount of exercise, and experiences a shortness of breath, with more or less warmth in the palms of his hands. Soon after this a cough appears, accompanied by an expectoration of thick mucous, followed by a hectic flush, loss of flesh and strength, and night sweats continue, when the patient assumes all the appearance of having a genuine case of consumption. But the larger bronchial tubes and the companied of the larger bronchial tubes and excises of the disease the mucous membrane of the larger bronchial tubes, and death takes place from obstruction of the bronchial tubes and air cells of the lungs. The patient dies from exhaustion and suffocation, being unable to expectorate the mucous which accountulates in the passage leading to the lungs which in some cases is sticky and small in quantity, but more commonly coptous, of a light straw or yellowish green. Oftentimes stresses of blood make their appearance in the mucous, and attimes there is a disagreeable smell. Fersons, thus affiliced are very liable tuous take cold, at which time the cold take cold, at which the patient dies in cone of these attaces. Inhistion is the only system which will cure these diseases, and yet the treatment of the two forms are entirely different. This will convince us of the necessity of fully understanding the system of Medicated
